7.3 Institutional Distinctiveness

The institution always adheres to its vision and mission and keeping in view the vision, the college endeavours to act as per the principle of both equality and equity. The college has diversity in its enrolment of students. Students from different communities like Mishing, Tea Garden, Karbi, Bodo, Manipuri, Marwari, Bihari, Nepali, etc annually enrol themselves in the college either in Higher Secondary or Degree. The college always follows the principle of fairness whether it is admission, students' union election, co-curricular activities, examination, evaluation, participation in various activities, activities relating to students' involvement in community participation programmes, etc. The institution always acts in accordance with its goal of achieving success by way of having a gender-neutral approach. The institution has never discriminated on the basis of caste, language, gender, religion, etc. The institution has a good number of students belonging to minority groups whether it is linguistic or religious or ethnic. The approach and policies of the institution have never been discriminatory in nature. Rather it has been trying to ensure equality and equity, and thus solidarity among all strata of society. Every year, many students representing various communities enrol themselves in the college and the institution provides the desired platform to all the students to develop themselves in all aspects viz. curricular, cultural, sports, debating and symposium, literary, etc. Remedial classes, extra classes are organised for slow learners so that they can keep themselves along with other students. Keeping in mind the cultural distinctiveness of all the students, the institution has always been trying to maintain the unity among its students and stakeholders by promoting equality and equity in all aspects and respect to all. Moreover, the institution has all possible facilities and equipment for the Differently abled (Dibyangjan) within the college campus such as ramps, rest rooms, wheel chair, scribes, etc.

Moreover, special emphasis was given on the development of female students. They are encouraged to nurture their talents in every possible area. Be it curricular, or any other areas like sports, cultural, intellectual every female student is encouraged and promoted to excel in life and career.
