Outcome of the activity:

Objective: The primary objective of the Orientation and Mentoring Session was to guide and prepare mentee institutions participating in the Quarter-4 activities of the Institution's Innovation Council (IIC) program. This session aimed to ensure clarity on submission deadlines, execution of planned activities, and fostering active participation in various innovation and entrepreneurship initiatives.

Outcome: The session successfully clarified the roles and responsibilities of mentee institutions regarding their participation in IIC activities for Quarter-4. It aimed to enhance the engagement of mentee institutions in the innovation ecosystem by encouraging timely execution of activities and fostering collaboration through events like hackathons and idea pitching competitions. Furthermore, the session emphasized the importance of visiting incubation centers to enrich the learning experience of students and faculty members.

Activity Details:

1. Submission of Quarter-3 Activities: Mentors stressed the importance of promptly submitting reports on Quarter-3 activities through the IIC portal, ensuring accountability and progress tracking.
2. Execution of Quarter-4 Activities: Mentee institutions were briefed on the upcoming activities planned for Quarter-4, focusing on aligning these activities with the IIC calendar to optimize participation and impact.
3. Participation in Hackathons: Mentors encouraged mentee institutions to actively participate in hackathons organized by the state government and Government of India. This participation aimed to foster innovation, problem-solving skills, and exposure to real-world challenges.
4. Idea Pitching Competition: To cultivate entrepreneurial spirit among students, mentee institutions were urged to organize idea pitching competitions. These competitions serve as platforms for students to present innovative ideas and receive feedback from mentors and industry experts.
5. Visiting Incubation Centers: Mentors suggested that mentee institutions arrange visits to nearby incubation centers. These visits are intended to provide students with practical insights into the startup ecosystem, facilitating networking opportunities and potential collaborations.

Conclusion: The Orientation and Mentoring Session organized by Parul University on 15th June 2024 was instrumental in aligning mentee institutions with the goals and activities of the IIC program for Quarter-4. By focusing on timely execution, active participation in events, and fostering entrepreneurial skills through competitions and incubation center visits, the session aimed to empower mentee institutions to contribute effectively to the innovation ecosystem. This initiative by Parul University underscores their commitment to nurturing innovation and entrepreneurship among participating institutions.
